The next day, Timmy wakes up early in the morning. Timmy wakes up and finds his clothes are covered in blood. Timmy looks around and sees that his hands are covered with blood, and Timmy starts to cry. Timmy's mother comes into the room and asks Timmy what happened. Timmy says that he was hit by a car while walking home from school. His mother takes him to the hospital, where Timmy is given a bandage on his hand. Timmy's mother then takes him home and makes him a sandwich for breakfast. Timmy eats the sandwich and feels better.

Timmy wakes up at night and sees a shadow in the corner of his room. Timmy runs away from the shadow and tries to hide under his bed. Timmy's mother comes into the room and asks Timmy if he is okay. Timmy says that he is scared of the shadow. Timmy's mother then tells Timmy that it is just a dream and that there is nothing to be afraid of. Timmy goes back to sleep.

Timmy goes out of the house and walks down the street. He sees a man sitting on a bench. Timmy walks over to the man and asks him if he needs help. The man says yes and Timmy helps him up. They walk together for a few blocks until they reach a bus stop. Timmy gets on the bus and sits next to the man. They talk about their day and eventually Timmy falls asleep all the way home.

When Timmy wakes up in the morning, Timmy finds his mother waiting for him. She wakes him up and tells him to get dressed and eat breakfast. Timmy gets dressed and eats breakfast. After breakfast, Timmy goes to school.

On Saturday morning, Timmy wakes up and goes to the bathroom to brush his teeth. He brushes his teeth and then goes to the kitchen to eat breakfast. Timmy's mother comes into the kitchen and asks Timmy if he wants to go to the park with her. Timmy says yes and they both leave for the park.

The next day, Timmy comes home from school. Timmy sees his mother, Aunt Polly, sitting on the couch, discovered that her hands are covered with jabs, and prepares to give her a whipping. Timmy calls out fearfully, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Timmy escapes across the house. After Timmy is gone, Aunt Polly walks carefully on Timmy's shoulders and then she lets him get away with her work.

Timmy goes out of the house and begins to walk along the streets of St. Petersburg. He meets a man who is a peddler, and Timmy and the man travel together. They stop at a shop, and eventually Timmy buys some clothes off the shopkeeper.

When he comes home in the evening, Timmy finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She takes his dirty clothes and makes him to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Timmy out to whitewash the fence. Timmy goes by, and Timmy tries to get her to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white alibi," a kind of excuse. Timmy doesn't agree, but Aunt Polly agrees and leaves him off, leaving Timmy alone with his tasks.
